Volume 4

Foreword . . .

With the arrival of the '58 Mustang another school year draws to a close . . . For seniors it means the beginning of a new and exciting phase in their lives . . . For the underclassmen it's a brief vacation between school terms . . . To me it means the close of a wonderful year as editor of the Mustang . . . Although the year is closing, it can always be remembered and relived by browsing through this Mustang.

Dedication

Four years ago you came to Clio from Central Michigan College as our new biology teacher. You were our freshman class advisor and gave the class of '58 its start. Since then, you have given the succeeding freshman classes a helping hand as their advisor - Three years ago you became advisor of the yearbook - It was a struggling, almost unknown part of the school life until you brought it up to its present standards and position - Whenever you could, you have helped us on our way toward adulthood. You've been a good advisor, but even more, a wonderful friend - For your untiring efforts in our behalf, Mr. Newman, we proudly dedicate this '58 Mustang to you.

THE STAFF

Principal - MR. DONALD WOOLSON

Principal's Message

In the final analysis Clio Area High School must be judged by its product. The standing and worth of this institution depends entirely upon the kind of niche you carve for yourself in our modern society. If you apply its teaching of respect, truth, initiative, honesty, belief and enthusiasm, the public will continue faith in your accomplishments. If you should prove a detriment to society it will not only affect your life but disgrace the school itself.

My advice to you as graduates and to you as undergraduates can best be summed up by the following "Life without thought is futile."

The student council takes an active part in school government. They sponsor various money making projects, and help the athletic fund to buy such things as football uniforms. Too, they bought the door markers for the high school doors. Each year they select student hall monitors. They are discussing the idea of having an honors' assembly this year.

Assemblies

DON LONIE - inspirational speaker tackles one of the major problems of high school youth. Cleverly and with humor his convincing logic explodes the prevalent theory that so many high school students think it is necessary "to lower your standards to achieve popularity." He held our attention with a stirring challenge to young people that they take their stand for right without equivocation.

HEDI OLDEN - directly from Switzerland, is a professional ski instructor, is an artist and designer, is a radio singer and plays the accordian for Swiss evenings at the lovely hotel her family owns.

RAY V. MAPLE - his assembly was very interesting as he used colored sand to illustrate his lecture. He swept his hand across the black velvet easel, showering grains of sand into place. He finished one work of art, then dumped the sand and started all over again. His wife also gave a very inspiring and entertaining commentary as Mr. Maple worked.

THOMAS J. CORGAN - Mr. Corgan's lecture will be remembered by his very interesting film of time lapse photography. The name was "Beauties and Beasts." This film showed lovely flowers through to the death dealing plants, and ending with the "Flower Ballet."

VIRGINIA SALE - she has been seen on hundreds of TV shows, such as Kate Smith, Gary Moore, Herb Shriner, Kraft, Lux, Chevrolet etc. She has done character rolls in more than 300 Hollywood movies. We remembered her by her very rare impersonations and characterizations.

PRUTH McFARLIN - was a very good singer, with great character in his voice. At the age of two, he was stricken with infantile paralysis. He has graduated from high school and college, and did not let his handicap bother him. He has filled hundreds of engagements at schools, colleges, universities, churches and civic concert halls. His accompanist too, was very versatile.
